School cuts under fire

By WENDY HANSCOM

Opposition began to emerge last week to the proposed SAD #44 program and personnel cuts.

Approximately 75 residents turned out at Wednesday's school board budget workshop—most to protest the proposed cuts, and the no-new-tax requirement that made them necessary.

Superintendent Dewaine Craig told the audience, "It took me about two weeks to wade through dealing with student issues, staff issues and administrative issues. And this list [of cuts] did not come easy." He added, "If you were preparing the same list it might look very different from ours, but the board had to have a place to start."

After Craig gave a brief history of this year's budget process, Board Chairman Margaret Hand said the audience would be allowed to comment of the budget cuts for one hour, and she asked that they limited their comments and questions to two minutes each.

The board was first asked to explain its reason for calling for no increase in local school taxes.

Bethel Board Member Merton Brown, who made the original motion, replied, "My thought in making the motion was only because we were going to lose so much funding from the state. And I thought it shouldn't fall back on the taxpayer to make up the difference. Some people have seen 300, 400, and 500 percent tax increases. People are coming to me and saying,

BREAK OUT THE KLISTER, KIDS—Fat, heavy snowflakes provided a perfect setting for this recent outing of the Andover Elementary School's recreational cross-country skiing group. Unfortunately, only a few days later this picture-book snow gave way to a treacherous taste of spring—in the form of three days of rain and freezing drizzle that coated the roads with a deadly gloss and took a big bite out of the sandpiles at local highway departments. (Photo by Karen McKay)

Dale Bellman is new police chief

Selectmen also approve contract for downtown revitalization project

At their regular meeting Monday the Bethel selectmen unanimously approved Town Manager Madeleine Henley's recommendation that veteran police officer Dale Bellman be appointed Bethel Police Chief Bellman has been with the Bethel Police Department for two years. Prior to coming here he had served as an officer with the Dixfield, Livermore Falls, Mechanic Falls, Poland and Lewiston police departments.

He has completed a 12-week course at the Maine Criminal Justice Academy and has specialized training in the areas of uniform crime reporting, police photography, municipal ordinance prosecution, and domestic violence.

The town received 42 applications for the police chief position, according to Henley, and three candidates were selected for interviews.

First Selectman Arlan Jodrey said: "I'm especially pleased that we were able to promote someone from within the department." He noted also that Bellman's promotion to chief will open up a position for another full-time officer.

In addition to the chief, the department currently has one full-time officer and the full-time vacancy created by Bellman's promotion. Six to eight reserve officers are also on the roster.

Henley said she hoped to fill the full-

Parents object to sixth-grade transfers and music cuts

Parents at last week's budget workshop questioned a number of the specific cuts proposed for SAD #44's FY '92 budget.

At the same time, however, district administrators said they saw some advantages to the consolidation that would take place if the cuts went through.

Parents from Andover said they were opposed to moving their sixth-graders to Telstar Middle School.

The Andover parents said they were concerned about long bus rides for their children, increased teacher/student ratios and the possibility of closing the Andover Elementary School.

Bob Lemieux of Andover said he was concerned that the district might consider closing AES eventually if the town's sixth-graders moved to Bethel.

He added that last year the town had even petitioned the district to bring their seventh- and eighth-graders back to Andover, but that the request was denied because of the expense for additional teachers and space.

"Last year there was an issue about bringing our seventh and eighth grades back." said Lemieux, "And we asked about our sixth-graders and we were told, 'Oh there's nothing in the works.' And now just a year later here we go—you want our sixth-graders. We're worried that after a few years you'll want our fifth-graders, our fourth-graders and then close the school."

Mary Richardson of Andover added, "I would not like to see it ever become cost effective to close the Andover school and bus everyone out here."

Woodstock parents also voiced their disapproval of moving their sixth-graders to Telstar Middle School.

Pam Hebert said, "Moving sixth-graders to middle school is not fair to this year's fifth-graders, who have had no time to prepare for the change."

Wendy Penley of Bethel asked middle school principal Bell for his opinion on moving the sixth grades.

He replied that from an educational perspective it made sense to have all sixth-graders in the same building.

"Class sizes will still be modest."

Annual town meetings underway

Andover

Selectmen stripped of salary power

Andover voters proved tight fisted at their annual town meeting Saturday, as they defeated a number of spending articles and took the power to set town wages away from the selectmen.

The voters soundly defeated a proposal for a sum of $16,000 to be used for the purchse of a computer system and software for the town office. The vote was (2-1) against, despite a talk by a representative of an office computer system firm.

Residents also voted against a town office account being increased from $3,750 to $5,000 to allow furniture purchase and repainting for the town office, which selectman chair Fred Emerson called "shabby."

They also voted 35-20 against authorizing the long-standing policy of the selectmen's setting the compensation for the road commissioner and the other town employees. One of the factors unfavorably discussed was this year's 10 percent across-the-board increase to town employees.

A proposed amendment from David Hawkes to the article authorizing selectmen to set town employees' pay would have also limited the position of town administrative assistant Rebecca Schachter to "a part-time 20 hours without benefits," but the amendment was judged "discriminatory," and not allowed by moderator Jane Rich. She suggested Hawkes submit a separate article at a future meeting in this regard if he wished.

Selectman Chairman Fred Emerson strongly objected to any discussion of Schachter's position, telling the voters: "You are stepping in where

Newry

Grange purchase, renovations OK'ed

It took approximately two hours for about 64 voters to go through the warrant at Newry's annual town meeting Monday evening.

The meeting was marked more by light hearted laughter than heated debate, as voters appropriated $394,373 for this year's municipal budget.

Les Otten moderated the meeting.

Voters approved spending $20,000 to purchase and repair the Bear River Grange Hall. The grange accepted the town's bid of $10,000 for the building, and the additional $10,000 will be used for general repairs, including, repairing the roof and updating the septic system and bathrooms.

Voters also approved $8,000 for equipping and repairing the Municipal Building.

Selectmen were questioned about what was done with the money in the account last year, slated for a stairway addition to the back of the building.

Remodeling plans called for an addition to be built on the back of the building to access the basement from the inside instead of the outside bulkhead.

Selectman Jim Sysko said that the project had been put out to bid, but the bids came back too high for the project to be undertaken.

Town Clerk June Swan, who has lobbied at town meetings for the project for the last few years said, "I expect I'll be in that lot over there in the cemetery next door before that stairway gets built."

Greenwood

Budget steady; incumbents bow out

Electing a new selectman and school director will probably be the highlights of what looks to be a relatively routine town meeting in Greenwood Saturday.

The warrant for this year's meeting contains 51 articles, down seven from last year's; the recommended municipal budget is likewise down slightly, to $334,524; and there are no major new initiatives or ordinances proposed for adoption.

Incumbent Selectman Ron Smith and School Director Malinda Seames, whose terms are expiring, have both indicated that they will not be seeking reelection.

There are as yet no publicly announced candidates for their positions, but nominations are expected to be made from the floor. Two years ago School Director Nancy Dewing also announced she would not seek reelection, but she was persuaded to serve another term when no one else at the meeting would volunteer.

The only major increases in budget items this year occur in solid waste management, up $8,600 to $38,600; and general assistance, not budgeted as a separate item last year, $6,000 requested this year.

The largest single item on the budget, highway maintenance, is unchanged this year at $123,620.

The selectmen are also not recommending that the town put money away this year toward the eventual construction of a salt and sand shed. The town had been setting aside $20,000 a year for the state mandated construction project, but first selectmen Marie Bartlett said the state mandate has been relaxed and with the earlier money earning interest, the

Rep. Bennett says DEP not about to OK tire site

The state Department of Enviromental Protection is apparently backing away from recommending that a license be granted anytime soon for the Greenwood tire storage site operated by Peter Gordon, according to representative Richard Bennett, R-Norway.

On Feb. 20 The Citizen reported that DEP officials appeared to be leaning toward granting a draft license for the site, and that in two separate conversations with The Citizen DEP staff members had said they expected a decision on the matter to be made within two weeks.

In response to subsequent calls from concerned citizens and town officials, Bennett (whose district includes Greenwood) said he contacted the agency and was told that the question is now "not immediately on the table for a decision."

Bennett also said he was told the DEP would be "very happy to have citizen input," and that anyone who did write to the agency would be contacted before any final decision was made.

Bennett said he too received the impression that the DEP staff was leaning toward recommending a license for the site, but he noted that the final decision on whether to grant a license must be made by DEP Commissioner Dean Marriott.

Bennett said he would meet with the commissioner prior to his making that decision and would apprise him of local concerns on the matter.

Anyone wishing to make their views known to DEP should write: Brent McCarthy, Division of Licensing and Enforcement, Bureau of Solid Waste Management, State House Station 17, Augusta, ME, 04333.

Rep. Bennett said he would also like to hear from anyone else concerned about the site. His address is: P.O. Box 655, Norway, ME, 04268. He can also be reached by telephone at 743-8739 or1-800-423-2900.

Newry ties withdrawal vote to district budget moves

Newry has scheduled its next public hearing on the SAD #44 withdrawal issue for after the school board has recommended a budget for FY '92.

Pending approval from the commissioner of education, the public hearing has been scheduled for April 8, at 7 p.m. at the Municipal Building. The school board directors have rescheduled their regular meeting planned for that night so that any members wishing to attend the Newry hearing would be able to do so.

Newry has also scheduled its final vote on withdrawal for April 23—two days before the SAD #44 districtwide budget vote.

Jim Sysko, chairman of the Newry Withdrawal Committee, said that the hearing and final vote were timed this way intentionally. Holding the public hearing after the school board has voted on a budget will give Newry residents a better idea of what SAD #44 plans for next year's budget, he said.

A few weeks ago, Selectman Steve Wight said that the proposal to cut the FY '92 budget by over $600,000 has concerned Newry residents. "I'm afraid [the school directors], may have shot themselves in the foot," regarding keeping Newry in the district, he said.

Sysko also said that holding the final vote before the district votes on next year's budget will be fairer to those voters.

He said, "Our consultant and some school board members have expressed concern that if Newry withdrew after the district budget vote, the budget they voted on wouldn't be the final budget."

About $200,000 would have to be cut from the district's budget if Newry ultimately withdraws.

SAD #44 Business Manager Bruce Powell said this year's budget was prepared with what information administrators have now, and it assumes Newry will stay in the district. If the town does vote to pull out, he said the district budget meeting may have to be postponed.

PINNING THE CHIEF—Laurie Bellman pins the badge of office on her husband, Dale, who was approved by the Bethel selectmen Monday evening as the town's new police chief.

Opinions

Budgets, butts and videotapes

First it was videotape rentals, now its cigarettes.

Last spring local school taxes went up by 24 percent, and an additional add-on of $80,000 was almost slipped past local taxpayers. "Not to worry," the add-on's supporters argued, the extra taxes involved were small . . . enough spare change for a few videotape rentals.

And now we're told that we can offset the expected loss of state educational funds simply by giving up a "a pack of cigarettes a week."

Interesting, isn't it, the way some people assume other people spend their money—on vidiot diversions and self-destructive addictions. Will we be told next year that all it takes to have "quality education" would be giving up a few copies of Penthouse, some packages of Twinkies or a couple of cases of Bud?

Considerate of them to protect us from our bad choices, to take our money and put it toward things they think are good for us—like the salary and benefit packages that take up 70 percent of the school budget.

But has it occurred to them that year, after year, after year of steadily compounding property tax increases have made discretionary income only a fond memory for too many local families? Their money isn't being frittered away on videotapes and cigarettes; it's being stretched to cover the cost of firewood or heating oil, repairs on an aging car, on medical care or, for those fortunate enough to have it, health insurance.

Enough of this elitist pooh-poohing of the personal costs involved in funding the school system. Every dime that we pay toward that system must be cut from our own budgets, and for many people this now means cutting necessities.

The state's balance sheet is certain to get worse before it gets better. Which means that as a community we're going to be faced with some very difficult and painful local choices. Let's make them on the basis of facts and mutual respect—not on demeaning stereotypes.

—MRD

Didn't that word choice reek?

A few alert readers have been kind enough to call our attention to an apparent gaffe in the recent editorial on the growing tire storage pile in Greenwood.

Hadn't the editor, they suggested, confused the verb "reek" with its homonym "wreak," when he wrote of the consequences that would be "reeked upon the area if the tens of thousands of tires piled at the site were to catch fire."?

We're delighted to know the editorials are perused so closely, and we're sure that these pages can be counted on to provide enough malaprops, solisisms and outright howlers to keep the attentive reader amused—for example, our recent inventive spelling of "Khadafy."

In the case of "reek" or "wreak," though, the word selection was deliberate.

As a verb "reek" is more familiar in its intransitive form, meaning of course to emit a strong, often unpleasant, smell. But, according to both Webster's Third New International Dictionary and the Oxford English Dictionary, the verb also exists in a transitive form, meaning (Webster's) "to subject to the action of smoke or vapors"—which seemed the apt choice under the circumstances.

Letters to the editor

DON'T STOP THE MUSIC

To the Editor

While most local citizens are aware of drastic cuts in the school budget for the coming year, many are not yet aware that the administrative team have recommended to the Board of Directors that the entire district music program be dropped from the curriculum.

As one of the two district music teachers, I feel very well qualified to inform the public of some of the loss such a cut would represent to the students and the communities of SAD #44.

First of all, music is not a frill. It is a part of the very fine curriculum that has been developed in our district. The Music Department has taken part in the Academic Standards curriculum development program which has resulted in music being taught to every elementary school student, every middle school student, and a significant number of high school students. The size of music classes has been showing a steady increase in spite of serious scheduling problems for members of the high school and middle school bands.

Band members currently compensate for these scheduling problems by rehearsing Wednesday evenings for two hours and during lunch periods and the band directors prep period.

The music program was quite favorably reviewed by the last accreditation process even though not all curriculum goals could be met due to insufficient funding.

I should like to take a moment to sing the praises of the youngsters whose music program stands in jeopardy at this time. Certainly those students who participate in singing or playing an instrument gain a great deal in terms of personal growth, self-esteem, and the joy of creative expression.

It is significant, however, that in the pursuit of these worthy objectives, these young people serve, and in so doing bring honor, respect, and recognition to their schools, their communities, and even their state. This year alone the high school band has won two trophies brought home hundreds of dollars in prize money and gratuities, entertained residents of area nursing homes and Senior Citizen groups, played for pep rallies, performed holiday concerts, place five band members in the Mt. Valley Music Festival Band, three students in the Festival chorus; placed four band members in the All New England Band, one in the Maine All-state band, and one in the very prestigious Sounds of America National Honor Band, which will tour Europe this summer.

Band members raised half of the money to pay for their new uniforms and have spent hundreds of dollars purchasing equipment that the district has been unable to provide. This they have done while being active in sports, guidance support groups, student government, honor societies, and countless other school and non-school activities. They are a credit to their school, their community, and the state. Please do not allow the destruction of the program to which they have contributed so much, and through which they have contributed so much to their communities.

These are the youngsters that bring tears of joy to your eyes at their elementary school concerts. They are the members of the band that has been offered $1,000 to march in Burlington, Mass. on July 4th, and $750 to march in Woonsocket, R.I. on October 10th. They are the youngsters who gave up their entire Memorial Day for the past six years to lend dignity to our memorial services. Please do not let them down. Contact the members of the board of directors and let them know that you want music to continue in our schools.

KIDS FOR TREES

To the Editor

Third graders in SAD #44 are going to plant some trees this spring in the "Kids for Trees" program.

We are going to take care of the trees for nine years. Then we are going to sell them for Christmas trees and use the money for high school graduation activities. We need some money to buy seedlings. We are asking our community to help us.

Those wishing to contribute can bring or mail donations to Crescent Park, Andover or Woodstock elementary schools.

Checks should be made payable to "SAD #44 Kids for Trees program."

THANKS FROM THE GULF

To the Editor:

Feb. 11, 1991
Saudi Arabia

Thank you to all who wrote and sent Christmas cards to me. It took some time to get them, but I really appreciated receiving them. They were spread out over a few mail days, so I got plenty of mail every mail call. Thank you for all the prayers and please keep them coming for all who are over here. I never really thought I would see a war in my lifetime, but here I am—in the proximity of the border, as nervous as a cat on a hot tin roof. The cards and prayers relieve the nervousness. I am looking forward to coming home to Maine and the USA. I thank Good I am an American. Take care and God bless you all. Thank you, again, for all of your support.

MY APOLOGY

To the teachers of SAD #44:

Tonight, Wednesday, Feb. 27, 1991, I attended the budget workshop meeting at the Telstar High School Library. I have strong concerns about our educational system—nationwide—and from that concern made comments to this meeting. I spoke of "our system" and "our elementary schools" needing a lot of attention and, by this, was referring to the schools nationwide, not locally. To all SAD #44 teacher's, and especially to Andover Elementary School's teachers, SAD #44 system does not "stink," which was the word I used, as it might have sounded. I realized this with a rush of great embarrassment, as I reviewed in my head what I had said earlier. My son is in A.E.S. now and has received an excellent education from a caring staff. He is headed, maybe next year, to Telstar Middle School and will continue his excellent education there. I have no doubts about these two statements.

My comments were to a nationwide educational system developed years ago to meet the needs of an emerging industrial society, and which now needs revamping. Our teachers do a fine job in the system as it is. But as many teachers I've talked to have agreed, it is time for a change of the total system to meet the needs of our newly emerging society of computers etc.

My anger at the budget cuts and my poor abilities and great nervousness at public speaking may have caused hurt among our teaching staff. I am sorry. I am strongly pro-education and am for budget and educational changes to improve our system not to delete important pieces such as music and, most of all, good teachers. And the elementary level is where you must begin.

'whatever you have to do, its unfortunate, but we just can't pay our taxes any more.'"

Marguerite Graham of Bethel called for a compromise. "I believe that the people in this town care about the students. Caring about the future of our students is caring about the future of SAD #44. I am hoping for a compromise that will please the taxpayers and support the students. I'm not looking for a 20 percent increase in my taxes. What I'm talking about is a slight increase—a compromise."

Art Marshall of Newry said that he too would favor a tax increase.

Making the assumption that each tax bill in the district will go up $100 if the full $648,013 budget deficit were funded, he said,"Frankly this whole process infuriates me. One hundred dollars per taxpayer—that's $1.92 a week and we're closing a school, eliminating teachers and the music program for that. Where is the sense of urgency for the kids. Let's not close schools. Let's not move the sixth graders. Let's not enlarge the student teacher ratio, all for a pack of cigaretes a week."

After audience comments, Newry Director Alison Aloisio asked administrators to prepare a list of items that they would put back into the budget if an additional $185,505 were added to the budget. The $185,505 would make up the projected loss in state funding.

According to Business Manager Bruce Powell, if the additional $185,505 was assessed to towns in the district, their school assessment would change over last year as follows: Andover, up 15.5 percent; Bethel, up 4.66 percent; Greenwood, up 14.02 percent; Newry, up 5.88 percent and Woodstock, down 4.33 percent.

Last year the five towns were asssessed $2,935,089. With the addition of $185,505 added into the budget, the total assessment for schools would rise 6.32 percent.

Art Marshall said that district taxpayers then would be looking at only a $30 increase on their yearly tax bill.

In response to Marshall, Chairman Hand said, "I may not be speaking for everybody, but when you, Sir, say $30 is not much, I have to think of my next-door neighbor that $30 might be her food money for a month. I might not like to, but I have to think about it."

Merton Brown, who is also Bethel's town clerk, estimated that the mill rate in Bethel would go up ¼ of a mill if the additional money was raised.

Board members urged those in attendance to encourage other district residents to become involved in the budgeting process, by writing or talking to their school board representatives or attending future budget workshops.

The next budget workshop will be held tonight (Wednesday) in the Telstar High School lecture hall at 7:00 p.m. There will be another budget workshop March 7, 7 p.m. at Telstar.

time opening as soon as possible. She said the town would probably seek a candidate who had already completed the 12-week course at the criminal justice academy, since Maine law requires all full-time officers who are employed for more than six months to have completed the course.

In other business Monday, the selectmen voted to award the contract for the downtown revitalization project to Scott Construction Company, of Newport, Vt.

Scott's bid of $560,477.50 was the lowest of 17 received on the project.

Bethel's consulting engineers, A.E. Hodsdon, recommended awarding the contract to Scott, noting that they had met with the company to review the project, and also that the company's work had been favorably recommended by the Berwick Sewer District and the Town of St. Johnsbury, Vt.

Henley said the company planned to begin work on the project as early as May 1.

She also told the selectmen that all but two of the necessary deeds had been received from property owners along the project's route. The two situations where deeds had not been received might be settled by easements, she said.

She also told the selectman that now that DEP approval has been received for the Bethel Airport industrial park subdivision, she expected to close within 30 days on the of sale the four remaining lots.

The selectmen also agreed in principle to allow the town's sewer plant to be used to treat approximately 5,000 to 10,000 gallons of "slightly contaminated," groundwater from the gasoline tank excavation at Bob's Corner Store in Locke Mills.

State law allows sewer plants to treat such special industrial wastes, and the town's environmental consultand, John Fancy, said the groundwater from Bob's could easily be handled by the system, provided that it was fed through in small batches.

The plant had been used in the past for such projects.

The selectmen agreed to the idea, but only on the condition that concrete assurances be received from the DEP that the town will not be penalized if putting the waste water through the plant temporarily affects its test results.

Town Manager Henley is to work out the details, including the fee to be charged, and to bring a proposal back to the selectmen for their approval.

Car, train crash in G'wood

An Auburn man received minor injuries Sunday when his car was struck by a train at the Howe Hill Road crossing in Locke Mills.

John P. Bourgault was treated for minor injuries and released from Stephens Memorial Hospital Sunday night, according to nursing supervisor Judy Allen.

Bourgault's wife Kathy said Tuesday that he is, "a little sore and stiff and has a bad cut on his arm." She added, "after seeing that car I don't know how he got out of it with just those injuries."

Bourgault's sedan collided with a St. Lawrence and Atlantic Railroad train out of Berlin N.H.

According to Oxford County Deputy Christopher Wainwright, the flashing lights at the marked crossing were operating at the time.

Kathy Bourgault said, "He just doesn't remember how it happened."

Bourgault was trapped in his vehicle and had to be extricated using Bethel Rescue's hydraulic Jaws of Life tool, according to Wainwright. The car was a total wreck, he said.

Three crewmen aboard the train were uninjured.

Tri-Town Rescue and the Greenwood Fire Department responded to the scene. Deputy Wainwright was assisted by Oxford County Cpl. Tim Holland and Maine State Police Trooper Tim Turner.

THIS WEEK AT THE

Moses Mason House

One of the largest crowds ever attended the 17th Annual Heritage Day at the Dr. Moses Mason House sponsored by the Bethel Historical Society on Feb. 22.

Guides Helen Morton, Judy Haskell and Millie Thomas were kept very busy during the afternoon with tours of the museum. Persis Post had so many requests for the hot Indian pudding served from the hearth of the winter kitchen that her supply was nearly exhausted. They were assisted in the museum by Ernest and Betty Perkins, portraying Dr. and Mrs. Mason.

In the meeting room and museum there were a number of craft demonstrators and exhibits, including Audrey Brooke, stencilling; Agnes Haines, basketmaking; Grace McKivergan, weaving; Mike Murphy, wood carving; Nancy Donnelly, quilting; Eva Paulsen, needlework; Hans Paulsen, chair seating; Lorrie Hoeh, rug braiding and spinning; Hilary Danforth, spinning. Also present in the meeting room was the annual art show organized by Helen Morton; other artists exhibiting their work were Tom McGinness and Dick Hosterman. Historical videos and a local book fair completed the list of attractions.

New members of the Bethel Historical Society include Mary Lovejoy, West Paris; Helena Bartlett, Bethel; Kathleen Holden, West Paris; Dene Kaufner, Redding, Calif; Sarosa Brown, North Waterford; Joan C. Swallow, St. Johnsbury, Vt.; Steven Tripp, Eliot. A hearty welcome is extended to these new additions to the membership rolls.

The latest issue of the Society's quarterly "The Bethel Courier" is now at the printers. The featured article is one by Joyce Wagner on medicine in early 19th century Bethel. Anyone wishing a complimentary copy should call the Society office at 824-2908 or write P.O. Box 12, Bethel, ME 04217.

LOOKING BACK

10 years ago: A building belonging to Gould Academy was moved from its former location at the rear of the Thunderbird Motel (now the Bethel House apartments) to a new foundation on lower Elm Street. It was originally located at the side of the former Bethel theater until moved to rear of the lot in 1959. Over 500 Bethel area children participated in the Dental Health Program. CORRECTION

Bethel Barber Shop is not closed

Last week's Newry town column incorrectly stated that the Bethel Barber and Beauty Shop was closed for the month. The shop is not closed; it is open and accepting both appointments and walk ins at its Main St. location in the rear of the post office.

you don't belong. This should be in executive session. The selectmen decide this. When you discuss this you open the town to a libel suit."

Selectman Brian Mills stated he had personally contacted the MMA (Maine Municipal Association) and was told the town could discuss the position, but not the individual case.

Andover Elementary school secretary Sue Burnham spoke of the discrepancy between her hourly rate and Schachter's. She also told of her support of "one of the selectman" (Brian Mills), and said, "The administrative assistant is doing the selectmen's job. The selectmen should be doing more than they do now. Some of the selectmen don't think they should do the leg work."

Former selectman Arthur Myshrall commented at length to the effect that the job was not what it was in the beginning and that Schachter was doing work the selectmen should be doing.

Jane Rich told the group that the selectmen's work had tripled this last year, and that "Most towns have a town manager. An adminstrative assistant keeps the continuity to carry on projects."

It was noted that other town employees received benefits, and therefore Schachter was also entitled to them. Also Schachter stated she carried out projects the selectmen had undertaken and did not undertake projects on her own.

At the suggestion of resident Gary Williamson that "the only way to control wages in town is to take the power away from the selectmen," the voters did just that.

The proposed computer upgrade failed, despite a lengthy presentation by Scott Moody of Municipal Data Systems of Skowhegan. He had described five computer modules to handle town office business, but the voters were not convinced. Some three hundred hours of computer imput will be required as a result of the recent town evaluation, and the selectmen had stressed the lack of capability of the present computer to handle the task.

Selectmen received $6,000 compensation; the tax collector, $5,000; the town clerk, $1,520; the registrar of voters, $240; the treasurer, $3,600; and MSAD directors, $15 per non-board member.

The voters agreed to accept a shorelands zoning ordinance by a 33-27 vote after comments by Planning Board Chairman Ed Witt. But his request for the town to require occupancy permits for new residences fell on deaf ears, with a 32 to 18 vote against.

Witt, also Comprehensive Planning Board chairman, did receive approval of $3,300 in matching funds in order to get a $12,500 comprehensive plan implementation grant from the state.

Planning board members and the code enforcement officer will receive compensation for meeting attendance. Regular members will receive $15 per meeting; alternates, $10; and the code enforcement offier, $15. Meetings must last a minimum of one hour for compensation.

Voters approved the Budget Committee's recommendation of $43,000 for General Municipal Services, and $20,000 for professional services. Selectman Emerson explained that the majority of the latter was for legal services incurred by the town's ongoing law suit with MCI over their tax assessments for 1988, 1989 and 1990.

The Fire Department received the sought-for $20,000 for operating expenses; $3,900 for training of 15 emergency medical technicians; $100 for Civil Defense; $5,000 for maintenance of hydrants; and a $10,000 addition to the fire truck account. Constable services received an amount of $2,000, but voters refused to add $1,000 to the police cruiser account.

The town also voted $20,000 for replacement of a highway department pick-up truck.

Treasurer Alex LeGault had two articles approved. One limits the amount of undesigned surplus funds to 10 percent of the gross budget of the town; and the other limits the overdraft of accounts to the amount of $1,000 or five percent of the appropriated amount, whichever is greater.

A proposal to set aside franchise fees from State Cable TV to be used for community television was turned down.

Wayne Delano was elected selectman Saturday, and John Percival elected as a SAD #44 director. All other incumbents were reelected.

Newry

was also approved. A voter made a motion that the article be amended to include an additional $10,000 so that the town could purchase the Jaws of Life rescue tool, but the ammendment was voted down.

In voting for town officers, selectmen Steve Wight, Willard Wight and Jim Sysko were re-elected.

Tax collector of 26 years Mary Tripp announced that she would be retiring this year. June Swan was elected tax collector, as well as re-elected as town clerk and treasurer.

First-time candidate Virgil "Tink" Conkright was elected road commsissioner by a narrow margin (28-24). He defeated Marshall Fleet, who had held the position for several years.

Voters also approved $92,350 for solid waste removal and recycling expenses, $50,000 for highways and bridges, $45,000 for administration and salaries, $16,800 for committees and boards, $6,000 for general assistance and for future equipment purchases $10,000 each in the highway and fire department equipment capital reserve accounts.

selectmen don't feel it's necessary to set aside any further funds at this time.

In non-financial matters, the planning board is asking the town to accept a revised shoreland zoning ordinance for the town, which essentially brings the town into compliance with new state requirements.

The selectmen are also recommending that voters repeal an article passed at last year's meeting setting up an Assessment Review Board for town.

Bartlett said that no volunteers could be found for the new board, and the selectmen didn't have the time or experience to do the job themselves.

Prior to the town creating its own review board last year, tax appeals had been handled by the county commissioners. If voters repeal the ordinance, the commissioners will once again fill that role.

Voters will also be asked to authorize the selectmen and the fire chief to negotiate and enter into mutual aid agreements with other local fire departments. The department currently has informal mutual aid agreements with some surrounding towns, but many towns in the state are moving toward more formal, contractual agreements.

This year's meeting will be held in the town hall, beginning at 10 a.m.

said Bell. "The programs offered in this building (Telstar) will be much more than those offered at the other buildings. Politically it's unpopular. Educationally it makes sense."

District administrators said they could also see advantages in closing the Ethel Bisbee School and moving its students to Crescent Park.

Newry Director Alison Aloisio called on Ethel Bisbee Principal Wendy Ford and Crescent Park Principal Dave Murphy for their opinions on the proposed plan.

The plan calls for all the district's portables to be moved to the Crescent Park site to house the additional students. Murphy said if the plan was put into effect, he would try to arrange classrooms so that as few students as possible would be put in the portables.

"By having our resources all in one building," he said, "we'll be able to stretch our resources further. Hopefully, a few years from now we'll have an addition to Crescent Park. To have all the students under one roof would add to the continuity of the curriculum."

Ford added, "I would have some real concerns if we were putting 24, 25, 26 students in a classroom, but we're not doing that. There are many advantages I see in having us all on the same campus."

At last week's meeting the audience also criticized the proposed elimination of the district's music program.

Telstar Music Director Harry Davis and several band members presented the board with two petitions, one signed by voters and the other by students, asking the directors to reconsider eliminating the music program. The students had gathered about 100 signatures on each petition in two days, he said.

Davis said that the band has been in demand for parades and other functions and that fees from these appearances brought money into the district.

"It's kind of hard to have parade without a band," said Brian Strickland of Bethel.

Telstar student Becky Hanscom told the board that it would be harder for students to obtain their required credit in fine arts if the music program was eliminated.

Band member Brian Davis said, "I've been playing in the band for five or six years. I want to try and get a music scholarhsip and go to All State next year. But with the music cuts for next year I doubt that I'll get the chance."

Agnes Gray School

By MARTA CLEMENTS

March is Music in our Schools month. SAD 17 will be presenting a District Elementary Concert on Wednesday, March 6, at the Oxford Hills Junior High School. The Agnes Gray School chorus will join the Guy E. Rowe School chorus to present the choral section. The Elementary Band and Orchestra will also be performing. This production is open to the public.

The week of March 11-15 will be Music in our Schools week. Parents and friends are invited to come in and observe the music classes and the instrumental lessons. At West Paris the music days are Mondays and Wednesdays. A notice will be coming home to inform parents of their children's schedules. A list of other upcoming musical events will be included in that list.

Now that vacation is over, we are back in full swing. The kindergarten classes are learning about the letter S and are using pipe cleaners to make lots of them. They are still counting and completing their 100 collections. They are learning to count by tens and to put these tens into groups of 100.

They are still working on their Washington and Lincoln silhouettes. In their study of dental health they are learning about brushing correctly, brush twice daily and are eating healthful snacks.

The first-graders are enjoying creative writing. They are making books which must include at least three events. In their journal writing, they are focusing on observing what happens around them. For reading, they are reading both silently and orally from Aesop's Fables. They are working hard at sounding out words.

In math the class is working on numbers and has a new game called Big Number Bingo. They are continuing their activities on sorting items by certain attributes, or characteristics. Each item must fit into two or three categories in order to be grouped. In social studies the study is focusing on the family. The class will each be making booklets about their families.

In grade two Bruce Adkins is the student of the week and this honor fell on Bruce's birthday. Happy Birthday, Bruce. The second-graders are learning how to make change in their math class. They are learning about the sound of long "O", and this week's spelling chapter is entitled Go Slow Boat. There are lots of ways to spell long "O"!

The third-graders are continuing their study of dental health and are learning about flossing. They are beginning our new math program called Math in Stride. This is a hands on approach to teaching math and the children are actively involved, learning and having fun all at the same time!

The fourth-graders are now studying the Southeast region of the United States. In science they are continuing with the unit The Air Around Us. They are learning about the advantages and disadvantages of air pressure. They have learned why our gallon milk jugs have hollow handles—need the air to make the milk pour correctly. They understand why we sometimes have to put two holes in the top of a can from which we wish to pour. They are continuing with their oral book reports.

My fifth-graders are answering their pen pal letters, still concentrating on at least three long paragraphs. Each paragraph has to have a main idea, and the rest has to support the main idea. We are beginning our study of the Civil War. The children will be reading about this period in their social studies book and will also be reading a novel of the same time period. We have skipped around in our science books, and we are now up to chapter one. We are learning about vertebrates and invertebrates.

The sixth-graders are researching, writing and publishing children's books which they will share with the younger grades. They are working with decimals in the Math In Stride program. In social studies they are learning about modern Canada. They have enjoyed a video called, Canada. It's Land and It's People. In science they are continuing with their study of the heart and what part nutrition plays in keeping a healthy heart. The class is looking forward to wrapping up this unit with a health-food luncheon.

The fifth and sixth grade Bobcats won the district basketball championship. Congratulations boys!

A week in the life of HILLARY HARRISON

Hi there, how's it going? Things are pretty good here. For the past few weeks I haven't been able to get rid of this flu that has been going around.

Now that most of the snow is gone I have become excited for the summer to come. I know its still far away, but the time between winter and summer is so miserable because of the mud.

My mom's birthday is coming up on March 10. She wanted me to clean and cook for her for an entire week. I said OK because she needs a break she works so hard.

Lately I have been in the mood to make lots of things. I'm working on a cross stitch, sewing a summer outfit, a pink tank top and shorts. I don't know why but I seem to want to make things a lot.

Well I must be going now. I will see you next week.

News from

Woodstock School

A message from the principal

The Sliding Party, orginally scheduled for March 3 at the Phillips' Farm was canceled due to a lack of snow. It may be rescheduled at a later date, if we get a significant snow storm.

Congratulations, John Hammel, for your third place finish in the SAD #44 Spelling Bee. We are very proud of the achievements of our Woodstock participants.

The Booster Club fund raiser for the WPTA is going very well. Some tickets are still available and can be purchased at the Woodstock Elementary School. The first drawing will be on Monday. Thanks go to all of the members of the community who have given their generous support to the Woodstock School.

We are in the planning stages for next year. It is important that we identify all of the Kindergarten students as we begin the registration process. Please contact the school, if you have a student eligible for Kindergarten in the fall of 1991. Thank you.

Angela Szente wins spelling bee

The annual SAD #44 Sunday Telegram Spelling Bee was held in the Helen C. Berry Auditorium at Telstar on Wednesday, Feb. 27.

The following students were finalists in the spell-off:

Grade six: Kelly Jaramillo (from Andover Elementary School) with Liza Fyrberg serving as alternate from Andover, John Hammel (from Woodstock Elementary School) and Stephanie Curley serving as alternate from Woodstock. From Telstar Middle School were: Tim Adams, Clint Myers and Monica Rolfe with Brian Inman serving as alternate.

Grade seven: Keith Chadburn, Shaun Drakus, M.J. Learned, Alex Gillies, and Bonnie Crocker.

Grade eight: Angela Szente, Sara Stowell, Heidi Davis, Jessica Reynolds, Shane Billings and alternate, Tim Hart.

The competition finished with only Kelly Jaramillo from Andover Elementary School and Angela Szente from Telstar Middle School remaining.

Both contestants misspelled the word c-o-l-o-n-e-l. Then, the word s-e-i-z-u-r-e was spelled incorrectly by Kelly and spelled correctly by Angela. Angela was named Champion Speller in SAD #44 when she then spelled the word v-a-g-u-e-l-y correctly. Kelly now holds the title of Runner-Up Speller for SAD #44.

Both girls, their families and friends are invited to attend the county level of the Sunday Telegram Spelling Bee which will be held at 7 p.m. on Wednesday, March 13 in the Mountain Valley Middle School Auditorium in Mexico.

As SAD #44 Spelling Bee Champion, Angela will represent SAD #44 by competing at this level. In the event that Angela is not able to compete, SAD #44 will be represented by Kelly.

Angela is in the eighth grade Telstar Middle School. She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Christopher Szente of Andover.

Kelly is a sixth grade student at Andover Elementary School. She is the daughter of Janice Anderson, also of Andover.

Dennis Melville, who attends Thomas College in Waterville and friend Pam Michaud spent the weekend with his grandparents, Ivan and Ann Proctor.

We attended the parade and program in Norway at the Guy E. Rowe School on Sunday. It was very good with a large attendance. We went with Milton and Eleanor Inman.

Forward Fellowship met Monday evening at Peg Perham's home with 12 members and two guests present. After the potluck supper we discussed the coming events and especially the church food sale to be held on Saturday morning at Mt. Abram. The next potluck supper and meeting will be on March 25 at Eleanor Ross' apartment at Mountain View complex. Joyce Lamb won the mystery package. Pokeno was played for entertainment.

Phillip Hyam was the guest of honor at a birthday dinner on Sunday. Those present were Janet and Kennard Bennett, Jason Cohen, Matthew Keene, Gail Goodwin, Paul Libby, Deborah Hatch and hostess Virginia Hyam. Cake and ice cream were served for dessert.

On Tuesday, Virginia entertained Anne and Jim Johnston for supper to celebrate Phil's birthday.

A West Paris High School Alumni meeting was held on Tuesday evening at the home of president Eleanor Inman to start making plans for the Annual Alumni Banquet which will be held on June 8. Those present were Mary Ann Brown, Linda Liimatta, Ida Gurney and Miriam Inman.

Howard and Ida Gurney, Phillip and Virginia Inman, Hugo Heikkinen, Dian Stimson and Miriam Inman attended the Oxford County Municipal Officer's Association supper and meeting Wednesday night at the Woodstock town office conference room. A very good turn out of 39 enjoyed the delicious meal put on by the Firemen's Auxiliary. The speaker was Geoff Herman, from M.M.A. concerniong General Assistance. He conducted a very informative question and answer period and answered many pertinent problems that the municipalities are having. The next meeting will be in Hartford.

The E.B. Forbes-Goodwill Group will meet on Tuesday, March 12 for a dinner meeting at the home of Louvie Coffin. It will be a $1 brown bag lunch and Lettie Brooks will be assisting Louvie as hostess.

Mary Thurston and Anne Fox had dinner, on Tuesday at the C.E.B.

Gertrude Hutchins was in Lewiston, Wednesday for a doctor appointment.

Louise Powell, Hale, visited her mother Alma Hewey.

Judy Hall, Roxbury, called on Florence Hall and Gertrude Hutchins.

Thought for the day: A good education consists of one part listening and one part deciding who to listen to.

Calvary Congregational Church

As a church family we want to exalt Christ. Rev. Donald Grover's message: "The Enemy" I Peter 5:8-14. Heaven to gain and there is a hell to shun. The choir sang: "Come, Holy Spirit."

Pastor Grover read a "Missionary Report" several letters shared from mission boards, which this church has a part in.

Junior church: ages 3-11 Mrs. Grover continues to teach on "Elisha." The Lord's table was held at the close of the sermon.

George and Anne Hicks will be here March 10, dinner for everyone.

The Bethel Health Clinic will be here at this church on March 25, from 1 p.m. to 3:30 p.m. for a cholesterol screening. The price will be $4. The public is invited.

So. Woodstock

By OLIVE R. DAVIS

Amanda Miclon is spending her school vacation visiting her aunt. Alishia Miclon is recuperating from a tonsil operation this week. Vacation is up this weekend so all will be back on the old grind again.

Polly Austin spent three days with Olive Davis this week while Esther Davis got a change from her labors here.

Neil Tibbetts has arrived in Saudi Arabia for duty in the United States Army. He called home to let his folks know.

Floyd Merryfield is tapping Olive Davis maple orchard. If you like first class syrup order from him. It's the best syrup around.

The next Historical Society program will feature a quiz on Woodstock. Larry Billings has given a sizable collection of foreign postcards to the Society.

A group of ladies attended the ice follies at Portland Sunday from this area.

Schools opened Monday for a new term of learning.

Mr. and Mrs. Ellsworth Hathaway entertained their daughter Jane Niro from Massachusetts and two children Michelle and Dana and a friend Roberta and son Michael last week.

Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Andrews of Bridgton stayed with their niece, Olive Davis Sunday.

Newry

By JIM ANDERSON

Right off the top, I have been spelling the first name of a valued member of the Newry Fire Department wrong. I did this in reporting on my view of a fire in Bethel which Newry helped. Michelle, I'm sorry! There are days I'm lucky to be able to spell my own name. Michelle is the daughter of Pam and Virgil Conkright and a granddaughter to a lady in Limerick, whom I have yet to meet! Also I stated that Newry had put in 74 hours and 50 minutes, once again I was wrong. It was a total of 75 hours. Once again Michelle was right and this old dog was wrong, that's why she made it into the National Honor Society! It's hard at any age to admit that someone younger is right and you are wrong. It also helps if the younger generation is kind about it. I have problems with another firefighter's name. Again it isn't a common first name even though it comes from the old testament. I manage to remember a trumpet and a wall.

On the other news! Bea Lowell is back to these frozen hights and valleys from spending three weeks in Florida. There she spent some time with another Maine couple who makes their home here in Newry, the Tetleys. She had a couple cold days down there, but not as cold as up here.

Bowling (here we go Rocky); Last week "Little Betsey" Clark won high triple with "Rolling Pin Queen" Karlene taking high single. This week, Karlene won both crowns with low scores. I guess the pins took nerve pills, for they didn't scatter as they usually do when Karlene bowls.

Friday the 22, Tink and I did some work on three of the trucks in the fire department.

Feb. 26 I did some chores around the Sunday River Fire House and a quick visit to one, Rocky Graham. Funny how the Republican and Democratic town chairs can get along, they can't in Augusta!

Just a reminder March 11 at 7:30 p.m. at the Newry Town Hall, the Mothers Club meets. All members are to bring "thinking of you" cards and Debbie Taylor, Shirley Keith, and Betsy Clark are to bring refreshments.

West Paris

By VIVA WHITMAN

Rather cloudy this morning but still not bad weather to start the week off. Back to school for the children so hope they all take care where the roads and cars are concerned. Don't know what other folks had for weather yesterday but we had snow flurries here but didn't amount to anything for which we are grateful.

Loretta Merrill was down to visit her mother Peggy Blake in the middle of the day Monday. Had lunch with her before going back to Bethel and also called in here for a few minutes.

Peggy went to work at the stores as usual on Tuesday and had a long day putting up cards. She was rather late getting home, however, she and Tom came down to play cards in the evening.

Russell and Peggy went to the dance on Saturday evening at Locke Mills and said they had a big crowd and a good time. I'm glad they can go and wish I could go also.

Forgot to say that last Monday evening was our Grange meeting at Bryant Pond. Not too good a turn out but still not too bad for a small grange. Our next meeting will be on a deaf awareness with Bertha Benoit heading the program and hope to have a good one. That will be on March 18 at Franklin Grange.

We celebrated the Presidents birthdays as well as Valentines on Monday at grange and had a laugh at a questionnaire as most questions were to be answered wrong and I would say, "No, that was the other one" so we got a good laugh before it was done. Got to have as many laughs as possible out of this life. Each got a valentine and showed and read it to the members. On home made ones, Charlotte Cole won the prize on most original and Bertha Benoit on the most artistic. They did a good job on the valentines they had made. Not too many to judge but glad some participated anyway.

Like most people I keep tuned to the television to get news on the war and hope we don't lose too many of our young men to that heathen over there. I pray for them each night and hope everyone else does also. They sure need our thoughts and prayers as well as letters and other messages of any kind.

Our nephew, David Yates and wife Carolyn went to New York to visit their son and family this past weekend. They expect he may get called to go to the war and wanted a chance to see him before that happened. He has a small son and they don't see them very often so am glad they went. Tom fed their cat while they were away.

Sunday afternoon Wynona and Mike with the girls came to visit for a few minutes and brought me things she had gotten in Waterville for me in the way of natural foods. Things I can't get in Norway though they have a lot.

Jennifer Haverinen spent part of the school vacation week with the Lovejoy girls. Her folks, Sonja and Victor Haverinen called on the Raymond Macks on Saturday and then the Lovejoys to pick up their daughter and take her home.

Mary took the children to see the Ice Capades on Saturday in Portland but said they were not as good as usual and even the children were not as happy with the show as usual.

Saturday evening, Priscilla and Julie Brett stopped in to visit the Lovejoys for a short while.

Don't forget the dance on March 2 at West Paris Grange Hall and also on the 16th there will be another dance at the West Paris Grange Hall as far as is known now. Dates for having a good time so mark them on your calendars.

It is a wonderful coincidence that while the Jewish people celebrated one of their most festive and joy filled holidays, they are able to celebrate, a bit cautiously, freedom from the danger of attack from Iraq. The annual holiday celebrates their escape from annihilation in Iran through the courage of Queen Esther in the old testament days. Their shared delicacies are a cookie-like pastry called Haman's Ears. Haman was the one who hung on the scaffold he had built for another.

This is another Monday morning and the valley is gray and dim stretching out to the grim mountains beyond. How different from last Saturday morning, when my nephew, his wife, and his mother went for a long ride for the whole day. Then, the sky was warm, clear, blue, so blue it made me wonder if I had ever really noticed a sky before.

We took the long way just to enjoy the day; going from Trap Corner through Buckfield on into Farmington, Kingfield, Carrabasset Valley. This brought memories of days when Clyde and my twin brothers went fishing there. We talked of the stories that they told on their return.

As always the flow of the rivers interested me and of course the mountains. Some looked like huge cakes well frosted in white. In one place one or two lazy fluffs of clouds drifted almost inperceptibly across the highest blue-like tufts of down; urged by an unseen draft.

Along the woodsy roads the evergreens were loaded in soft fluffy snow from a very recent storm.

At an open place in one moving river there stood by itself a perfect rock-table in its white cloth. We didn't have chairs so we didn't stop for lunch.

It was very still there in the edge of the spruce and fir forest-fringes and the shimmer of sunlight.

Lakes framed by the sentinel mountains on either side were wonderful pictures to gaze at.

We came to a place on the very edge of a river, where we noted a large deer. We stopped to watch it, as it was busy eating from a branch high above its head. It couldn't reach to get what it wanted so stood on its hind legs and pulled the branch down. We watched it time and time again. A small deer walked the opposite shore.

We moved on always scanning the road sides for more deer. We were not disappointed for we saw many.

At Rangeley we stopped for lunch and were surprised to see the clergyman and his wife who had given the service for my sister-in-law last fall. We talked for a few minutes. They left before we did. Our second surprise came when the waitress brought my nephew the bill and told him that our meal was already paid. Nothing had been said but it had to have been our

Taxes and the Working Student

Students who have part-time or summer jobs need to think about more than what hours they should work or how to spend their earnings. High on their list of considerations should be whether to have taxes withheld.

Some of the many things which affect the need for withholding are:

- How much will the student make at this and any other job during the year?
- Does the student have a savings account or other investments which produce income?
- Does (or will) the student have a scholarship which will be partially or fully taxable during the year?
- Can the student be claimed as a dependent on someone else's tax return?

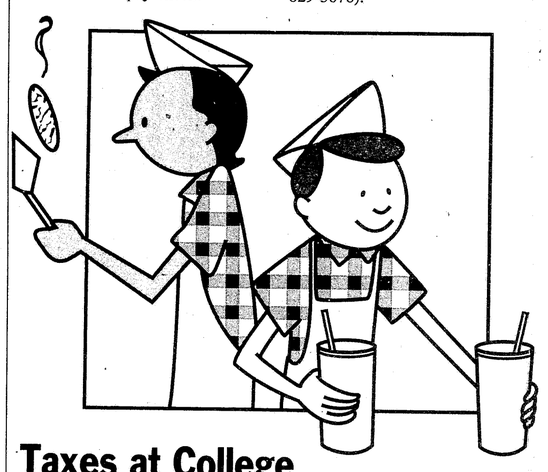
Each of these factors should be considered when students fill out Form W-4, "Employee's Withholding Allowance Certificate," to determine how much, if any, tax should be withheld from each pay check.

In general, a single student who can be claimed as a dependent by another person will owe no taxes if he or she:

- Does not have more than $500 in total income, some part or all of which is unearned income; or
- Is under age 24 at the end of the calendar year and earns up to $3,250 in wages, tips and taxable scholarships, provided he or she has no unearned income such as interest or dividends; or
- Is 24 or older at the end of the calendar year, has no unearned income, and earns less than $2,050.

Students who are 24 or older at the end of the calendar year and earn $2,050 or more can no longer be claimed as dependents on another person's return.

For more information, Form W-4 and Publication 4, Student's Guide to Federal Income Tax, may be obtained by calling the Internal Revenue Service at 1-800-TAX-FORM (1-800-829-3676).



Taxes at College

Some of the best things in life are free, but that may not include your scholarship or fellowship. Scholarships and fellowships awarded after August 16, 1986, may be partially or fully taxable.

Only degree candidates may exclude any scholarship or fellowship payments from income. There are several restrictions on the exclusion including both the types of qualifying expenses and the types of payments received.

The "qualified" amounts that are not taxable include payments that cover enrollment tuition or fees and course-related expenses for books, fees, supplies and equipment. Any other amounts, such as for room, board, travel or incidental expenses, must be reported as income for the year received.

Many scholarships and fellowships also include pay for past, present or future services. Any payment received for services is taxable for the year of receipt, even if the service is required of all candidates for a particular degree.

Students who are not candidates for a degree must report all scholarship and fellowship amounts as income for the year received.

Those who received scholarships or fellowships awarded before August 17, 1986, should continue to report these payments in the same way they were reported in the past.

Poison Prevention Week: March 3 - 9

The theme for National Poison Prevention Week is "Children Act Fast – So Do Poisons." The theme is part of a campaign to alert the public to the problem of accidental poisonings among children.

According to the Poison Prevention Week Council, more than half a million children swallow some medicine or household chemical each year. While most recover, at least 30 children die annually in poisoning accidents. When young children are crawling, they can find poisonous products such as drain cleaners under the kitchen sink. As children get older and are able to stand, they may reach for medicines on counter tops or open medicine cabinets.

If chemicals or household products have been swallowed, offer a small amount of water to the child. Then call a hospital emergency room of the local poison control center for advice as to whether or not to make the victim vomit. Keep a one-ounce bottle of ipecac syrup on hand for each child or grandchild in the home.

Poison prevention starts with keeping poisons out of the reach of children. When these products are in use, children should be observed closely. Keep poisonous products in their original containers. Medicines are best stored in a locked cabinet or on a high shelf out of children's reach.

Hilda Brown to retire

Hilda Brown, SAD #44 food services supervisor will serve her last hot lunch in June—after 34 years of cooking for children in the SAD #44 and the Bethel School systems.

Hilda said she had seen many changes during the more than three decades she has been in the district—especially in the tastes of the kids she's served.

In the "old days" kids wanted home-style cooked food, she said, but no more. "Now they're used to more fast-food type cooking," she said. "Finger food is what I call it. We still serve, let's say, turkey and gravy, but you won't get as many kids as when you serve pizza."

She said she could foresee a time when food service at Telstar would go to more of an a la carte menu, with french fries, hamburger and other similar foods available daily.

Hilda said she's fought against a move like that in the past, but because that's what kids want today, it's probably what they'll get. The school doesn't even have the capacity to fry food now, she said.

Hilda moved to Bethel from England in 1946. She met her husband, Irving, when she was an instructor in the Royal Air Force, and he was an instructor the U.S. Air Force, stationed at the same base. She married Irving in 1945, and a year later the couple moved to the States.

The Brown's have four children—David, Robert, Kathleen and Suki. Irving was head of the Maintenance Department for the SAD #44 for many years. He retired six years ago.

Hilda started work in the Bethel schools in 1957 and went to Telstar when it opened in 1968.

A recognition dance honoring Hilda will be held March 15 at the Bingham Gymnasium from 8 p.m. to 12 midnight. Tickets are available through the SAD #44 superintendent's office.

News from the Bethel Area

Health Center

The Bethel Area Health Center is offering a circuit training course through SAD #44 Adult and Community Education starting March 26 through April 30, from 5:30 p.m. through 6:30 p.m.

Circuit training is an innovative conditioning program that can be designed to develop strength, power, muscular endurance, speed, agility and neuromuscular coordination, flexibility, and cardiovascular endurance.

Due to this versatility, the program can be varied to meet the needs of the group. Circuit training (CT) is a formal type of training in which an participant goes through a series of selected exercises or activities that are performed in sequence or in a circuit.

There are usually six to 10 stations in a circuit. The participant performs a specific exercise at each station and then proceeds to the next station. The idea is to progress through the circuit as rapidly as possible, attempting to improve either by decreasing the total time it takes to complete the circuit or by increasing the amount of work accomplished at each station, or both.

The Bethel Area Health Center now has a Universal Gym which will be an integral component of the course. CT combines a number of different components (weight training, aerobic exercises etc.) and thus total fitness is emphasized.

The instructor of the course is Joel Hinshaw. He holds a masters degree in exercise physiology from the University of Maine. He has worked in fitness centers in Saudi Arabia, developing similar programs.

Other courses being offered at the Health Center this spring include standard first aid, C.P.R., healthy back class and aerobics classes (Tuesday and Thursday 12-1 p.m. and 6:45-7:45 p.m.) and the First Annual Women's Health Conference on March 23.

To register for all of these course please call the SAD #44 Adult and Community Education office at 824-2780. Starting April 17, Kathy Sutton will again be teaching childbirth education, Wednesday evenings, 6-8:30 p.m. through May 22. For information and to register please call the Health Center at 824-2193.

Rotary Club notes

Jean Bass, co-pastor of the West Parish Congregational Church in Bethel was the guest speaker at the Tuesday, Feb. 26 meeting.

Program chairperson, Robin Zinchuk asked Rev. Bass to speak on faith. It was said that faith doesn't have to be connected to a denomination or religion as such but is an inner thing that individuals may possess. Rev. Bass asked the Rotarians to reflect on individuals in each of our lives that support us in who we are and what we do. It is this person or people who have much to do with how we live out our faith. It was a great and enlightening topic of our discussion.

Dave Preble gave Rotary information and read a letter from Rotary International's President Paula Costa regarding the war in the Persian Gulf.

The club was fortunate to have 11 guests this morning. They were John Culuzzi, Cape Cod; Dick St. James and Bob Vanwart from Charlottetown P.E.I. They brought Dick's exchange "daughter" Mette Voor from Denmark. Also John Teft from Exeter, N.H., Deborah Ann Develle from Gorham, N.H.; Jack Solo and George Allen from Rumford and Larry Ketner from Oxford Hills.

Meridith Howe will tour Europe with Sound of America Band

Meridith Howe, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Stephen C. Howe of Bryant Pond, has been selected to perform with a national performing organization known as "The Sound of America Honor Band and Chorus."

Meri, who has served as first chair flute and piccolo player with the Telstar High School Band, played second flute in the Maine All-state Orchestra last year, and will be playing flute in the All-state Band in May of this year.

Meri has been playing the flute for seven years, having studied with Liz Smith, Harry Davis, and currently with Sesilie Stearns of Norway. She has performed with the Mountain Valley Music Festival Band for five years, All New England Band for three years, and the Telstar Concert Band, Marching Band, and Jazz Band.

She is a member of the National Honor Society, secretary of Tri-M Music Honor Society, a member of the Telstar track team, the drama club, Girl's State, F.A.C.T., and Daughters of Union Veterans.

She will join other select student musicians from applicants representing nearly every state of the Union when "The Sound of America Honor Band and Chorus"begins in 1991 European Concert Tour next July. Selection into "The Sound of America" membership is a distinguished honor for all participants. All applicants are carefully screened and chosen only after a rigid character and musical evaluation.

The group is scheduled to present nine performances in many of Europe's finest concert halls during its 24-day concert tour. Paris, Reims, Interlake, Lucerne, Strasbourg, Innsbruck, Bregenz, Luxemberg, Rothenburg, La Chaux de Fonds, Bruges and Brussels are some of the exciting cities that will be visited during the tour.

Rug rat awards presented

The Gould Academy Rug Rat program concluded its fifth season last Tuesday afternoon with instructors and their students joining parents and friends in the Bingham Auditorium for a closing ceremony.

Steve Sanborn, faculty coordinator for the program, praised Sunday River owner Les Otten, whose support and cooperation has made the program possible since 1986.

Certificates of participation, designed by Gould Associate Headmaster Dr. Harry Dresser, and patches depicting a "rat" on skis, made by Groan & McGurn, were presented to each of the 73 Crescent Park students involved in the program.

Randy Gross received a Special Improvement Award. While passing out certificates to her students, Liese Stevens commented that the group's only problem was one of too much love.

Voted by his peers, the Eric Bennett Memorial Award was bestowed to Chris Drake for exemplifying leadership qualities, patience, a sense of humor and a love of skiing.

Tom Ford, of Gould Academy, also received a certificate of appreciation for his contribution in providing transportation throughout the season, and was cited in particular for his inordinate amount of patience.

CPS principal David Murphy presented a plaque to director Sanborn in recognition of his responsibility for synchronizing all aspects of the program and for his dedication and commitment to the instructors of Gould and the Rug Rats of the Bethel Community.

Scholarship fund set up in memory of Ted Reed

Dan and Betsy Cummings of South Portland have announced that a scholarship fund has been established in the memory of Theodore M. Reed, Jr. who died in a car accident on March 8, 1990.

The fund will be used to award a post-secondary schoarship to a graduating Telstar senior who plans to major in environmental science.

Reed was a 1978 graduate of Telstar Regional High School. He majored in environmental science at the University of Maine at Presque Isle and graduated in 1982.

His widow, Carrie, and four children, Tyler, Sam, Courtney and Caroline live in Brunswick.

Donations to the scholarship fund may be sent to: Dan and Betsy Cummings, 61 Everett Ave., So. Portland, Maine 04106. Checks should be made payable to the Ted Reed Memorial Fund.

Operation Desert Song

For anyone who has been looking for a chance to express their support for our men and women in the Persian Gulf, here is a great opportunity.

The Telstar Music Department will commence with Operation Desert Song Saturday night and 1900 hours (7 p.m.) in the Helen C. Berry Auditorium.

The evening will feature pop and patriotic music, including movie and television themes, love songs, sacred selections, solos and ensembles of all kinds. There will also be a special section of music for the children with a special surprise.

Saddam promised the "mother of all battles," but our troops coaxed him into the "mother of all retreats" The Telstar Music Department now promises the "mother of all patriotic finales."

Sunday River Skiway offers another free ski day to residents of SAD #44

Legislative tourism forum set for Bryant Pond

The Bethel Area Chamber of Commerce and the Oxford Hills Chamber of Commerce will sponsor a forum for local legislators and residents to discuss proposed cuts in the Maine state tourism promotion budget.

The forum will be held Monday morning, March 11 at 7:30, in the Masonic Hall on Route 26 in Bryant Pond Village.

Chamber officials have urged that everyone owning or employed by a tourism-related business attend and let local legislators know their feelings on the cuts proposed for tourism promotion in the state.

Just a reminder that Daffodil Days will be March 21 and troops are asked to make vases for the flowers. The troops will be distributing the flowers at the area hospitals and nursing homes on that date.

recent friend who paid it, a very thoughtful and generous thing to do.

We drove on to Oquossoc, where we visited a fish hatchery. It was a unique and interesting place but not seen from the road. There were many cement pools in which there were fish. It has an interesting story but too long to write.

Going on through Wilsons Mills and Magalloway was where we saw the most deer. It was exciting, for a man was out feeding them in a small field and they were waiting in the edge of the woods. When he had finished he rapped on his pail and they came running from their waiting place. There were many of them and so beautiful. We stayed to watch and to take pictures, as did several others.

Back through Errol, Upton, and Grafton Notch we traveled on our way toward home. This familiar territory turned back time for me to the many hikes Ruth and I had taken here.

At home again about six, the afternoon shadows lay gray fingers over the valley and drew sky veils of mystery across the distant hills. Stars twinkled to welcome us home from a lovely journey. I loved it all.

Mr. and Mrs. Glenn Straight came from Freeport to get their son on Sunday. He had been visiting his grandmother, Rena Curtis, over school vacation.

As usual I joined the family at the farm on Sunday. David, Mary and Ann were there and Sally for a short time, then she went to be with her father and mother and to bring them cheer for they had just lost a dear one.

The children in town enjoyed their vacation and I'm sure it went too fast.

Dot Betts and I were with some of the teachers for lunch on Thursday. It was a smaller group this time but we had fun at Doris Slattery's home. When we meet next month we hope that all will be able to come.

Fay Holt visited her cousin, Sylvia Cummings, in South Paris on Monday.

Ann Holt took her little niece, Mary, for Mary's first ski lesson one day during vacation. Mary was thrilled.

We are saying farewell to February. Is anyone sorry.

Dorothy Betts flew to Washington D.C. on Monday for a couple of days to meet with other members in her work.
